

PROJECT CORRECTIONS:

- 5% Some images are distorted/stretched
- 2.5% Some images are too pixelated
- 15% Your links in your implementation still do not navigate to other pages, as noted from last feedback. Instead, the only way to get to other pages is by going through your repository. You must add a nav bar, and add a hamburger menu on smaller resolutions as noted in the assignment description.
- 2.5% No vertical scroll on home page--remove the overflow-y on your body css selector so that you can scroll across the entire page.
- The layout needs to change up a bit--the mobile layout looks much better compared to last time, but the large layout doesn't quite resemble a professional layout. Some of your layouts have an unconventional layout. For example, your Birds of Prey and The Powerhouses layout look more like a magazine-type layout rather than a typical website. Your About Us page layout is a little all over the place--the columns are nice, but not practical for a user to jump around when reading. Your History page is laid out a bit weird with the blank back boxes, perhaps make it so that they all stack on top of each other.
- I would take the time to look up similarly designed websites and draw inspiration from them--try to take note of things that they all do together, and incorporate these in your layouts.
